Family Home Evening Fish Game

$7.00

FISHERS of Men

Game Instructions

Players: 2-8

GAME PREPARATION: Color prophet cards as desired. There are nine cards on each sheet and an extra card on this sheet. After coloring, cut each card out. Cut out the "Fishers of Men" card covers. Adhere one card cover to the back sides of each prophet card. Laminate cards.

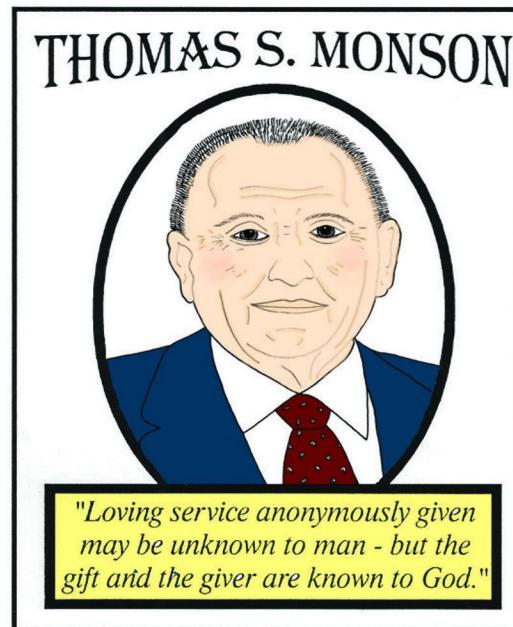

OBJECT: To have the most pairs when play has ended.

PLAY:

1. Deal five cards to each player. If only playing with two players, deal seven cards.
2. Place all remaining cards face down in a draw pile in the center of the playing surface.
3. Determine which player will go first. The first player asks one of the other players for a specific card saying "Do you have Joseph Smith?" (Nephi, Jonah, Howard W. Hunter, etc.) If the player has the card requested, he must give it to the asking player. The asking player then places the pair down in front of him. The asking player may then continue his turn.
4. If the asking player asks someone for a specific card, and that player does not have the card requested, they reply with "Go Fish," and the asking player then draws a card from the draw pile. If the player cannot make a pair, they must keep the card.
5. If the player draws a card that gives them a pair, the pair is laid down in front of them and they may take another turn until no pairs are made.
6. Play ends when one player is out of cards or the draw pile runs out. The player who has the most pairs is the winner.

VARIATIONS

- For a shorter game remove some of the pairs. For a longer game, a player must collect a set (four cards of one prophet).
- Play a game of concentration by collecting pairs of each prophet. Place the cards face down on a playing surface. Players take turns turning up two cards at a time to locate matching sets. The player with the most sets at the end of the game wins.
